2009 Program Speakers

Chellie Pingree was elected to the Maine State Senate in 1992, representing Knox County. In 1996, she was chosen by her peers to be the Maine Senate Majority Leader. She helped lead the Senate for four more years, until leaving office due to term limits. Pingree sponsored one of the nation's first prescription drug pricing bills, MaineRX. After a legal fight that led all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, the bill became law, and has since been a model for states around the country working to lower prescription drug prices. Pingree unsuccessfully challenged Susan Collins in 2002 as one of the few outspoken opponents of the Iraq War running for U.S. Senate.

From 2003 to 2007, Chellie served as the National President and CEO of Common Cause, a non-partisan citizen activist group with nearly 300,000 members and 35 state chapters. Common Cause's mission is to help citizens make their voices heard in the political process and to hold their elected leaders accountable to the public interest. Under Pingree's leadership, Common Cause increased its membership and diversified its agenda to include limiting media concentration and consolidation, promoting Net Neutrality, and election reform, while continuing to pursue its traditional goals of campaign finance reform and oversight of government ethics and accountability.

In 2008 Chellie was elected to Congress from Maine's 1st Congressional District—the first woman elected to Congress from that District. It also marks the first time in American history that women make up the majority of a state's Congressional Delegation.

Miguel E. Basáñez is the Acting Director of the Cultural Change Institute at Tufts University's Fletcher School. His research interests are cultural values and survey research, how values affect political, economic, and social development; how they are rooted in religion and Law; how they are transmitted; how values relate to public policy and institutions; how they evolve and can be changed.

Basáñez received a BA from the Law School, National Autonomous University of Mexico (1969) ; MA, Public Administration, University of Warwick, England (1974); M. Phil, Political Philosophy, London School of Economics, England (1982); Ph.D., Political Sociology, London School of Economics, England (1991). A former Attorney General of the State of Mexico (1985-86); and Chief of Staff for the Secretary of Energy (1986-88), Basáñez established and managed several companies from 1988 to 2008 for conducting and publishing public opinion surveys in México and worldwide since 1995.

Among his many works are Human Beliefs and Values: A Cross-cultural Sourcebook Based on the 1999-2002 Values Surveys with R. Inglehart and others (eds), Siglo XXI, Mexico, 2004, Values and Life Styles in Urban Asia: A Cross-Cultural Analysis and Sourcebook Based on the Asia Barometer Survey of 2003 with Takashi Inoguchi and others (eds), Siglo XXI, Mexico, 2005, and Changing Values and Beliefs in 85 Countries: Trends from the Values Surveys from 1981 to 2004 with L. Halman, R. Inglehart and others, Brill, 2007.

The Joseph W. Martin, Jr. Institute for Law and Society

The Martin Institute prepares Stonehill students for leadership as active citizens in service to an improved human community and challenges faculty and students through rigorous, critical, interdisciplinary inquiry into law and society by linking theory and practice in a curriculum based upon exploration of the vital issues of public policy and social justice. The Institute is in the midst of a two-year study of globalization and the forces that are transforming our world.

For more information, please visit our website:

508-565-1131

The Joseph W. Martin Institute for Law and Society was established by Stonehill College in 1990, with Congressional funding, in memory of Joseph W. Martin Jr. (1884-1968), the former North Attleboro member of Congress who served two terms as Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives. In 1986, President Ronald Reagan signed into law legislation for the creation of the institute at Stonehill in Speaker Martin's honor.
